

Virtual Meetings

Dyventive is the premier nationwide provider of event innovations. Virtual meetings and live web broadcast events of all types particularly capitalize on the core competencies that Dyventive has built over the years. Dedicated planners, focused event production teams and world class technicians deliver one of the best virtual meeting platforms in the industry.

At the same time, we understand that broadcasting your message is only one part of a virtual event. Our event planning and programming staffs manage all the additional details of capturing attendee information, producing your broadcast and reporting your program results while our in-house technical team provides proactive support so that your message is delivered reliably to the viewing audience.

About the Technology

Dyventive delivers virtual events using a completely customizable in-house platform, ranging from synchronized slides with audio, to HD quality video broadcast and anything in between. It's the highest video quality available anywhere in the industry and requires very low bandwidth to ensure both easy access and a great experience for the viewers.
